ENGINEERS OF MECO TO STUDY "WHITE WAY"

Engineers of the Metropolitan Edison Co. Monday evening promised to initiate studies to provide Gettysburg with a "White Way" that will not only provide light, but be in keeping with the historical nature of the community.

The Metropolitan Edison officials: Larry Weber, Reading, street lighting engineer; Paul Aumen, Hanover, commercial sales representative, and William A. Lentz, manager of the local branch of the utility, met with the Utility committee of borough council, the Executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Travel Council and Retail Merchants and officials of those three groups at a meeting called by the council Utility committee at the engine house.

"Excellent Meeting"

Lentz summed up the opinion of the Metropolitan Edison group by terming the session, "an excellent meeting. I only wish we could have more meetings such as this. We all gained many good ideas." He also urged those present and any others who may have knowledge of decorative types of lighting elsewhere to notify him so Metropolitan Edison engineers may look at those installations as possibly holding some ideas for Gettysburg.

For the time being the possibility of larger bulbs in lights in Lincoln Square and the possibility of some sort of shield to throw the light downward will be explored as a temporary measure until a final plan can be evolved for the town's lighting, it was indicated in the discussion.

Philip M. Jones, chairman of the Utility committee, opened the

SUV AUXILIARY DONATES FOR STATUE HERE

A $50 donation toward the fund for construction of a Lincoln statue at Gettysburg was voted Monday evening by the Auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans at its meeting in the GAR rooms on E. Middle St.

Reports at the meeting showed a profit of more than $50 from a doughnut sale held last Tuesday, and the auxiliary voted that $50 of that amount should be given toward the statue.

Its presentation will bring to $150 the amount donated for the Lincoln statue during the last few days. A $100 donation was made Saturday by a York resident. This is the first donation by an organization.

Plan Later Donation

The check for $50 will be presented to the treasurer of the fund to be named at a meeting to be held in the near future by the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania with heads of various local organizations to set up a permanent operating committee to promote the campaign for funds and establish a treasurer to handle the donations.

At Monday's meeting members of the auxiliary indicated that they probably will continue with an annual project to raise funds toward the statue which it is planned will be dedicated November 19, the 100th anniversary of the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

President Sara Keefe presided at Monday's session. Marian Stark donated the "pig in a poke" which was awarded Irma Martin. The once-a-month gift was given by Hazel Dillman and awarded to Bess Kapp. Following the meeting refreshments were served and games played.

Plane Crash At 23,000 Feet Narrowly Averted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines Electra narrowly avoided a collision with an Air Force B47 jet bomber near Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday. Three passengers and a stewardess were injured.

Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, the airliner's pilot, said the big bomber shot past 400 feet below the climbing Electra.

The Eastern plane, Flight 127 out of Chicago, was southeast of Chattanooga at 23,000 feet when the incident occurred. Seventeen passengers and a crew of five were on the airliner.

Ruprecht, of Miami Springs, said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane, 1,000 feet below.

ARMY BAND TO PLAY HERE

The United States Army Field Band will present a concert June 28 at 7:30 o'clock at the Gettysburg High School as part of the observance of the 96th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. William G. Weaver, chairman of special events for the observance, announced today.

The band is well known in Gettysburg. It appeared in 1949 at the first of the current series of battle observances. Last winter it played a concert at Gettysburg High School for the Band Boosters Club which was well received by local residents.

The concert will be part of the annual Memorial services opening the observance.

YOUTH NEEDS ROTARY TOPIC MONDAY NIGHT

"There is a dire need for all of us to concern ourselves with youth," Ray Wigand, chief executive of the York-Adams Area Boy Scout Council, told the Rotary Club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

"Statistics compiled today are frightening, for if the trend they show continues, our youth of today will suffer much that we could perhaps prevent, if we are willing to provide the leadership and the effort."

"If today's figures can be projected into the future one out of every three youths sometime during their life will be hurt or killed in an automobile accident. This is a toll that we can cut down by our own concern today with highway safety. Our concern can decrease the slaughter for youth looks to us for leadership. If we are careless on the highways, if we continue to apparently care nothing about accidents, then we cannot expect youth to be safety conscious."

Trend Will Continue

"Unless we take some steps now, the trend will continue, and we will condemn one out of every 12 youths of today at sometime during their life to be either hospitalized or receive outpatient treatment for mental ills."

"And if today's figures hold good tomorrow, one out of every 200 will be murdered, and correspondingly, one out of every 200 will be a murderer. And tragedy of tragedies, one out of

COLLEGE PLAY PRESENTED TO LARGE CROWD

Before a large and enthusiastic audience in Christ Chapel, the Gettysburg College Players, under the direction of Jerry Jackson, presented a production of Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland" which would have won praise for a professional theatrical organization.

The tragedy is the story of a proud, trusting young queen who learns through suffering the price of spiritual serenity. This queen, the young Mary, grows in stature before the eyes of the audience through her recognition of her own fault of pride, which, together with her innocent confidence in the well meaning of all men, leads to her bitter overthrow; and in her fall she unfolds a growth in spiritual insight learned, as all must learn it, through the hope and error and pain of human experience. The play was presented as part of the Religious Emphasis Week program of the college.

Wins Acting Honors

First acting honors went to Miss Halo Wines, whose portrayal of Mary of Scotland was subtle, radiant and infused with spiritual ardor. The deepening of character and growth of integrity which Miss

REV. SMITH IS SPEAKER FOR KIWANIS CLUB

Rev. Nevin E. Smith, pastor of Emmanuel United Church of Christ, Hanover, spoke on "Service Clubs and Brotherhood" at Monday evening's meeting of Kiwanis at Bankert's Restaurant. Claiming that "Lincoln belongs to the people because his greatest attribute was his downright love for all men," Rev. Mr. Smith urged service clubs to "enter into services to humanity based upon that same great love for all that Lincoln had."

"He had within his heart room for all people—not only his friends, but his enemies. Where lesser men would have been bitter at the cruel and unjust accusations that were hurled at him, he could find no room for bitterness, only for love and compassion and understanding."

"Service clubs should bring to their activities that same love of all humanity, regardless of race, creed, color. To a large extent the service clubs help in promoting this love, because they embrace people of all parties, denominations and races within their world-wide membership."

"All men are classified as homo sapiens, one race, brothers under God. Yet man's greatest problem has been to learn to live with his neighbor. Only when he adopts the love for man, which is based on love for God, which is Lincoln's, can man hope to bring about peace in the world."

"Service club members should develop in their own activities that downright love of all, which can spread to bring all people of the world into a common brotherhood."

President Robert McCoy presided at the meeting.

"Weather-Eye" Satellite May Have Been Fired Into Orbit At Cape Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Vanguard rocket—designed to put a weather eye in orbit about the earth—was launched here today. All three rocket stages fired successfully.

Ten minutes after the launching, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said all three rocket stages had fired and had performed smoothly.

Confirmation of a successful satellite orbit usually requires about two hours from the time of the liftoff.

The payload was a shiny 21½-pound sphere housing delicate instruments designed to report on the world's weather.

The slender rocket blasted skyward at 10:55 a.m., EST.

An announcement was expected from Washington in from two to three hours on whether this effort to put a sixth U. S. satellite on course had been a success.

Spurring a glowing trail of orange flame, the missile climbed steadily for some 10 seconds after through a blanket of gray storm clouds.

The missile's behavior appeared to be perfect during the brief time that it was in sight.

It had begun to rain lightly just before blast time, but this did not affect the launching.

If all went well, the first-stage

DEAN TILBERG WILL SURVEY NEEDS OF AGED

Announcement was made at the February meeting of the board of directors of the Lutheran Inner Mission here Monday that Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean emeritus of Gettysburg College, has been engaged by the board to conduct a survey of the needs of aging Lutherans in the 81 congregations of the five-county West Pennsylvania Conference area.

Beginning March 1, Dr. Tilberg will be interviewing the pastors of these Lutheran churches as well as a number of the elder members of the constituent parishes. Dr. Beryl B. Maurer, synodical director of survey and research; Sister Betty Amstutz, synodical secretary of Inner Missions, and the Rev. G. Martin Ruess, president of the board of control of the LIM and chairman of the services committee, have participated in planning for this project, which is to provide the recipe for a program of services in the West Pennsylvania Conference area.

Fifteen members of the board and guests attended the meeting, which was held at St. James Lutheran Church. The members visited the newly renovated offices of the LIM in the St. James parish house, this office serves as the administrative center for the family services provided in the conference area.

Mrs. Henry T. Bream, executive director of the Inner Mission, reported that in January services were extended to 11 aged persons, six persons in children's specific needs, 13 in family situations, three unwed mothers, one applicant for adoption, one applicant interested in giving foster care, one handicapped adult, and three transients, a total of 32 persons receiving direct service. A number of lay volunteers were reported assisting in the work of the agency during the month in service such as providing temporary child care, giving legal counsel, and helping with housekeeping services in a temporary emergency situation.

Mrs. Bream announced that training sessions for recruits for volunteer service will be held in April in three central locations of the Franklin-Fulton, Cumberland-Perry and Adams County areas. A meeting of the Lutheran volunteer chaplains serving the homes, hospitals and institutions located within the conference is scheduled for April 27 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Mechanicsburg.

The board also has under investigation an attack by six Hanover youths who beat three Littlestown juveniles in the town square about 10:45 p.m. Friday. He said that charges will be filed when the investigation is completed. Three of the attackers, whom he did not identify this morning, are "adults in the eyes of the law," he said. The other three are juveniles.

The Littlestown chief said that the local incident does not appear to be the prelude to any gang war such as the recent one in which a number of Hanover youths invaded Manchester, Md., and administered beatings to youths there.

But police are checking to see if there is any relationship between the two incidents. Mummert said that too little is known so far about the tire slashings to relate them to the two attack incidents.

P. BURKHOLDER TO HEAD STAFF AT NEW SCHOOL

Paul S. Burkholder, head teacher at Meade School for three years, will be in charge of the teaching staff at the Eisenhower Elementary School when it goes into use next fall, it was decided by the Gettysburg Joint School Board at an adjourned meeting Monday evening at the high school building. The action was taken on recommendation of the Teacher and Curriculum committee.

Burkholder, who is 32, is in his ninth year in the teaching profession. He is a graduate of the Shippensburg State Teachers' College and got his Master's degree in Elementary Administration at Westminster. He was assistant principal at Keefauver School for one year before succeeding Lloyd R. Hartman as Meade principal.

Reports Monday evening indicated that the Eisenhower School will not be finished by the contract date of April 1, but, because of severe weather, will not be finished until possibly mid-May. Buchart Associates' representatives said the general contractor is about 70 per cent complete, instead of the 89 per cent he should be by this date. Heating was 90 per cent complete at the last job conference February 4; plumbing, 83 per cent, and electrical, 43 per cent.

Elect Teacher

The board also elected a teacher to fill the vacancy caused in the elementary staff by the resignation at the beginning of the year of Mrs. Guy Wolf. The board elected Donald Kendall, Waynesboro, at a salary of $3,600. He graduated from Shippensburg State Teachers' College at mid-year and already has begun his teaching duties here. His election was unanimous on a roll call vote on recommendation of the teacher committee.

The directors approved a resolution in which the joint school district agreed to proceed with a study of building needs for high school students without immediate promise to state reimbursement for rental if a building is erected. The resolution does not bind the district to build another school house. The next step is an inspection of local needs by a state team.

The board approved, also by a roll call vote, the proposed calendar for the 1959-1960 school year under which schools will open August 31 after teachers' meetings on August 29. The schools will close for Labor Day, September 7. The August starting date was decided upon because Labor Day falls on the latest possible date this year, it was explained.

Schools Close June 3, 1960

The calendar lists a Christmas recess from December 23 to January 4 and pupils will get their report cards June 3, 1960.

The board approved a proposal under which the local teachers will participate in a teacher workshop next October 22 and 23 at York with York city and York County teachers, instead of holding a local workshop.

The board was informed that its Finance and Planning chairmen, Superintendent Riegle and architects' representatives have been investigating the possibility of seeking federal funds for school building planning. No recommendation was made on the matter.

The board was told that the local school authority has advertised for bids for furniture and equipment for the Eisenhower school to be opened March 9.

There was a discussion of the

250 SEE HEART VALVES WORK IN RARE FILM

An atom bomb exploded over the San Francisco Bay area would kill only about half as many people as die in one year in this country from heart disease, Dr. Robert Glover, director of thoracic and cardiovascular research and surgery at Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia, told an audience of about 250 who attended the fifth annual lecture sponsored by the Adams County Heart Association in the Gettysburg High auditorium Monday night.

The audience had a rare experience, one that few doctors have shared, that of seeing, in color motion pictures, the actual operation of the valves in a human heart. The film was used by Dr. Glover in connection with his discussion of heart surgery. It was screened by one of his research co-workers, Dr. Robert G. Trout.

Dr. C. Earl Albrecht, deputy secretary of health for Pennsylvania, pointed out that diseases of the heart and related ills account for more deaths in Pennsylvania than any other cause. At a meeting of the Gettysburg Lions Club which preceded the heart meeting, Dr. Albrecht listed the 13 principal causes of death in order: Heart disease, cancer, apoplexy, hemorrhage and vascular diseases, accidents, diseases of early infancy, pneumonia and influenza, general arterial sclerosis, diabetes, diseases of the liver, nephritis, congenital malformations, suicides and tuberculosis.

Local Activities

The Rev. Charles E. Held, executive secretary of the Adams County Heart Association, reviewed some of the activities of the association. He noted that $500 had been given to each of the Hahnemann Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania last year for heart research. This, he said, is in addition to the portion of the 40 per cent of local gifts which goes to the state and national organizations which contribute largely to research.

He also said that the association each year sends a nurse to Philadelphia to take a two-week course in cardiology.

The Rev. Mr. Held also reported on the rheumatic fever prevention program which the as-

Experiment On Freezing Man Solid For Space Trip

By RALPH DIGHTON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Experimenters to determine if man can be frozen solid for years-long trips to other solar systems are under way at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. John Lyman of UCLA's biotechnology laboratory plans to freeze mice and rats at first, but believes his findings can be used to turn humans into ice-like statues for ageless trips through space.

"The big problem is not getting man into space," Dr. Lyman said in an interview. "That will be done within a very few years. The problem is to keep him from becoming psychotic—going insane—under the unnatural conditions and confinement of space flight."

Frozen Sleep Best Answer
Giving man a natural environment—building space ships big enough to provide oxygen, food and social and recreational facilities—may be prohibitive in cost, Dr. Lyman believes.

The best answer, he said, is

2 CONVICTED BY JURIES AS SESSION ENDS

Two defendants found guilty by Adams County juries Monday afternoon were sentenced to jail later in the afternoon by the court.

George A. Shirk, 42, 17 N. Washington St., who was found guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, was sentenced to 45 days in jail and ordered to pay $100 for the use of the county and the costs.

Glenn E. Hutchison, 38, Green-castle R. D., found guilty by a jury of fraudulently withholding money, was sentenced to from 60 to 120 days in jail, starting February 5, and was ordered to make restitution of $104.80 to Caledonia Manor and pay the costs.

Had Challenged Plea

The jury hearing the Shirk case retired at 1:53 o'clock Monday afternoon to consider its verdict. Foreman J. Harry Kane, Fairfield, handed up the verdict of guilty at 2:20 o'clock.

Trial of Hutchison occupied most of the afternoon. Hutchison, a former bartender at the Caledonia Manor, had entered a plea of guilty to the fraudulent withholding of money. As he was about to be sentenced Saturday he told the court that he had lost the money or it was stolen and the court directed that a trial should be held.

As a result, the matter went to trial Monday afternoon with the court appointing Attorney John Thrush to represent Hutchison. Testimony showed that Hutchison had been a bartender at the Caledonia Manor. Last December when the owners went hunting Hutchison was given $100 in change to operate the bar during their absence. Hutchison said he

COLLEGE PLAY

Wines brought to the part, from the opening scene, where Mary's self-conscious charm and innocent sincerity triumph over her first enemy, through her anguished parting from her husband. Bothwell, to the closing scene where she stands triumphant over the conniving Elizabeth, who has destroyed her politically, are nothing less than superb.

Mrs. Mahlon P. Hartzell Jr., who played Elizabeth, was almost equally brilliant in her delineation of the forceful, intelligent, plotting queen, whose conscience and womanhood are still alive in her, although she has been subordinated them to the historical role which she must fulfill.

Larry Larkin, as the Earl of Bothwell in a role that demanded development from swashbuckling bluntness to a height of tenderness and renunciation, was excellent. So was the fanatic John Knox, played by Frank Woodruff.

Other Fine Performances
So many parts were admirably handled that it is impossible to award credit equally. There were fine performances by Norman Kear, as the degenerate, drunken Darnley; Nicholas Giorgio, as Mary's secretary; Randolph Keyes, as Elizabeth's counselor; David Shelly, as Mary's illegitimate brother; Philip Gleason, as Elizabeth's subtle courtier and aide. In minor roles, orchids go to Lois Inman and Sandra Wilson, as Mary's ladies-in-waiting, and to John Cochran, as Lord Morton, and Alan Parker, as Jamie.

Brilliantly costumed, performed with a minimum of stage furniture, in the bare chance of the chapel the production made a glowing and moving experience of a play which, although rich in insights, lacks something of the high poetic quality which its theme demands.

The play will be presented at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening in the college chapel for the townspeople of Gettysburg and the surrounding communities.—M.K.T.

The discussion ranged over hopes of some that Gettysburg may in time present a "Williamsburg effect" in its downtown section, to discussion of various types of possible lighting fixtures and their purpose. Also discussed was the possibility of a "Lincoln Route" marking with special lights along Baltimore St., Steinwehr Ave. and the Taneytown Rd. to the National Cemetery which may be placed in 1963 to help mark the route of Lincoln from the square to the cemetery. Members of the group also discussed possible talks with the town planning commission to help with developing the future of the town.

Members of the council committee present included Jones, Robert D. Fidler and Harold Ecker. Nicholas Meligakes represented the Chamber of Commerce; Lane, the Travel Council and George W. MUEHL SPEAKS

"We believe that history is the conflict between 'good guys and bad guys' but the tragic thing is this: does not represent life. We live in the most highly integrated civilization the world has ever seen."

"Our Christian faith too is strongly individualistic. We feel we can only reach God vertically, that there is no redemption through social relationships. We tend to put our life into two categories: (1) that part which we can define in spiritual terms, and (2) that part which we cannot because man is not completely free. A contemporary fictionalization of this is the bank robber who loves canaries. He settles his social demands, yet keeps the sanctuary of his spirit pure," Muehl added.

YOUTH NEEDS
every 50 will commit suicide. These are facts we cannot run away from. This is what is happening today, and will continue to happen unless we do something to change the situation. So far I have mentioned nothing of war. But war looms on the future of our youth — unless we can prevent it.

"Youth fights wars, but youth does not start them. The starting of wars lies with us, the elders. We are the ones in power and we are the ones who can prevent it. We have many pacts today, but we had Kellogg peace pacts and Leagues of Nations and a million other pacts before and they did not stop war.

Must Change Values
"The only thing that can stop war is to replace the material values of life with the spiritual. Day after day our newspapers, radio, television, scream to us of dishonesty in business, labor, politics. Yet there seems to be no dire consequences to those whose dishonesty is revealed.

"Are we helping to build spiritual values for our youth when we present them with such a spectacle?"
"Youth seeks answers, and he finds them in what he is told and in what he sees about him. Have we told youth that there is a spiritual force of far greater power than the most powerful nuclear bomb invented? Have we told our youth that there something more to life than the accumulation of wealth, that ours is a great nation not because of what it has but because of the character of its people? If we have not only by words, but by deeds, then we need have no worries for our youth tomorrow — if we have not, then what standards can we expect them to have? It is our responsibility and, if we shirk it, then tomorrow can bring disaster for ourselves and our youth."

Wigand was introduced by Attorney Edward B. Bullett, president of the York-Adams Area Boy Scout Council. President David Blocher presided with 50 present. Attorney John A. MacPhail announced that a panel discussion on "54 Years of Rotary" will be presented next Monday by Dr. Roy W. Gifford, H. Edgar Riegle and Attorney Eugene V. Bullett.

Most Vital Organ
Dr. Glover opened his lecture by remarking that "surgery of the heart as we know it today is just 10 years old." He had commented before hand that if he were to have lectured on the subject 10 years ago, he could have covered it in 15 minutes. "Now I couldn't do it in 15 weeks," he said.

"The heart," he told the auditorium audience, "is the most important and vital organ. When your heart starts, you start; when your heart stops, you stop," he said. He noted that a person can have 18 feet of his intestines removed, can lose one kidney and even half of the other, can have his entire stomach removed or one of his lungs and still continue to live a fairly normal life. "Some people can even get along with half a brain," he quipped. "But you have to have all of your heart!"

He estimated that 12 million Americans have various cardiovascular (heart and circulation system) diseases. "But that is not to say that they have one foot in the grave and the other on a banana peel. Most of them live normal lives," he said.

Size Of Grapefruit
Dr. Glover described the heart as the size of a grapefruit, a hollow muscular pump, "the most magnificent pump ever devised." He said that it creates tremendous energy, in 12 hours enough to lift a 65-ton freight car one foot off the ground. "It pumps six quarts of blood through the circulatory system in 60 seconds. It is the closest thing we have to a perpetual motion machine."

He pointed out that the "major blood vessels" in the human body comprise a pipeline long enough to reach from New York to Hong Kong via the Panama Canal. "If you add all the little ones, the pipeline would reach two and a half times around the earth."

"You should think of the heart and blood vessels as a cardiovascular system," Dr. Glover said, likening it to the plumbing in a house. "You can't have a major defect anywhere in the system without the system breaking down."

More Than Blue
Speaking of congenital heart ills, Dr. Glover said that blue-ness is not as common a symptom of heart disease as people are inclined to think. Describing the heart itself, he said the right side, which pumps returned blood through to the lungs and operates at low pressure, is the part most affected by congenital defects. Acquired diseases occur on the left side which operates at higher pressure and forces blood throughout the body.

He noted that a heart-lung machine has been developed which can substitute for the right side of the heart during surgery for as long as an hour, "two if necessary."

Those diseases which affect the left side of the heart are mostly those we call the degenerative diseases, he said, diseases of wear and tear.

Coronary Attack
"It is the coronary artery disease that causes what is commonly called the 'heart attack,'" Dr. Glover said. He illustrated his discussion of the coronary arteries with slides which pictured these vital blood vessels which provide the blood to feed the heart itself.

He pointed out how an obstruction in one of these arteries can starve the heart muscle, bringing on the constricting pain, "the heart crying out in hunger," the heart attack.

Unlike the systems providing blood to other organs, he said, the coronary arteries do not provide cross circulation, so that when the blood flow is stopped into one area, blood is not available from other arteries. He described some of the surgical methods aimed at getting the blood supply restored around the blocked arteries.

"What we should have for the blocked artery," he said, "is some kind of Drano or a Roto-rooter to clear the obstruction." But these problems, he concluded are not solved. The answer lies ahead, he said.

sociation sponsors. He said that 40 to 50 persons a month are processed through the hospital for tests. The association provides medication for those needing it. The program, over five years, has had a good record, he pointed out. "Not one case of rheumatic fever developed among those treated," he said. One death, at age 59, occurred among those in the program, he said.

Provides Beds
The association provides assistance if necessary in cases where heart disease affects persons and families and provides for comfort of patients with hospital type beds. "We have 35 of these beds in the county," he said.

Donald M. Swope, president of the Adams association, presided at the meeting in the auditorium and also presented the guests at the Lions' meeting which was held earlier in the high school cafeteria. There he introduced William Skillen, heart fund consultant, who outlined the three phases of the basic program of the associations.

These, Skillen said, are research, education and community service. He said that "ceilings" are predictable in respect to the needs in education and community service, but that research possibilities are limitless.

"Research is the thing that must march ahead, move ahead, if we are to find the answers to the problems of the heart," Skillen said.

Other Guests
Swope also introduced Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, former president

Enter Non-Suit In White Action

The Adams County court was notified Monday that a voluntary non-suit has been entered in two cases scheduled for the current term. One was the action in trespass brought by Ralph A. White, Littlestown, against the Pennsylvania Railroad. The other was the trespass action brought by Ralph A. and Mildred M. White, Littlestown, as parents of Larry William White, and Ralph A. White as administrator of the estate of Larry William White against the Pennsylvania Railroad. Both suits resulted from a fatal accident on the Littlestown-Hanover Rd. in which Larry William White was fatally injured when his car struck a Pennsylvania Railroad train at a crossing.

was afraid to leave the money at the Manor overnight because the Manor would be without custody, therefore when he closed the bar the first night his employers were away, he put the money in a bag, and put it in his car, intending to take the money home for safe-keeping.

Last Of Current Trials

Hutchison said he stopped at a barroom in Greencastle on the way home, leaving the money, in its bag, in his car. He said when he came out of the bar, the money was gone. He said he asked about and searched about for the bag containing the original $100 plus $4.80 that had been secured from operation of the bar the night before. He said he never returned to Caledonia Manor because he was attempting to borrow money to replace the "lost" amount, before returning. He said he had not reported the loss to police because "I wasn't sure what had happened to it." He said he left Greencastle and went to Cleveland in order to take a job there.

The jury was out 18 minutes before returning with its verdict of guilty. Charles W. Ogden, Baltimore St., was foreman of the jury. The two cases completed the list of trials on criminal charges scheduled for the current term of court.

'59 MERCURY Planned for People

Mercury's new beauty is planned for people — makes room for 6, not just 4!

Here's proof you needn't sacrifice comfort for beauty. Unlike most '59 cars, Mercury is beautifully built for roominess. For instance: the hump on the floor has been cut in half, giving the middle rider more leg room . . . and a thicker, softer cushion. Mercury has the roomiest passenger compartment of all. Has the widest doors. Has the most visibility. Yes, you're comfortably fixed . . . in a Mercury.

IN MERCURY THERE'S MORE SEAT CUSHIONING, deeper, thicker, softer — under the middle rider. You'll find it's the most comfortable center-of-the-car ride on the road. Mercury gives you normal sitting height, too, for relaxed riding comfort.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Election in Gettysburg: Tuesday's election in Gettysburg aroused a great deal of interest and a large vote was polled in the borough. Ticket cutting was much in evidence, partly lines not counting for much.The winners included: Burgess,
J. A. Hiltzworth; Tax Collector,
William Frank; Justice of the Peace, A. D. Buehler; borough
auditor, Maurice A. Miller; First

Butt, Esq., assignee of the Gettysburg Brick Company, has sold the plant and all the belongings to the Auburn Shale Brick Company of Auburn, Pa. Mr. J. A. Setzler,
president, and W. F. Oswald, secretary and manager.
The purchase price was $40,000.
The company is and has been
for years successfully operating an extensive brick plant at Auburn
and also one at Schuylkill Haven
and on account of constant increase in demand for their output it became necessary to purchase another plant.Notable Visitor In Gettysburg:
Right Rev. Hugh M. McSherry,
who spent a short time in Gettysburg last week, was a very notable visitor.Bishop McSherry is one of the noted prelates of the Catholic Church. His success in ministry won him promotion and in 1895
he was consecrated Bishop of South Africa by Cardinal Lavig-erie. During the war with the Boers,
the Bishop performed important duties in the British Army for which he received a medal of honor from General Kitchener, commander of all the British Forces in Africa. The Bishop is a diligent student of language and literature and his private library contains 8,000 volumes.Bishop McSherry is a cousin of William McSherry of Gettysburg.
Tourist Season Will Be Good:
Gettysburg's tourist season this year promises to be above the average despite the fact that the National Guard encampment will not be with us to add to this source of the town's revenue.
Numerous parties are communicating with the local hotels concerning rates and a number have booked dates.One of the big events of this year will be the state encampment of the Pennsylvania division of the Grand Army of the Republic. This is to be held June 7 to 11 and promises to be the largest Grand Army encampment held in Gettysburg. The only unfortunate feature of the Grand Army encampment this year is the fact that it will come on the same week as the college commencement. This however occurred once or twice in the past and little inconvenience resulted.The Pennsylvania Loyal Temperance Legion will hold their annual convention here this year.
The date has not been determined upon definitely but will most probably be June 29, 30 and July 1 and 2.The largest single event of the coming season promises to be the dedication of the new Regulars
monument south of the Highway Mark. United States troops will be present together with a large number of people of prominence.Bad roads in the county are causing many people who usually drive to town to come in on the trains. The roads are all in very bad shape at many places and no where are very good.The spring like weather of the last week has caused residents of the county to begin work at their gardens. Wild flowers have come up at a number of places, early

Today's Talk

A DOG'S LIFE

I live in a city (New York)
where there are probably more dogs than in any other city in the world. Every day on the way to my office I pass them, and always pause to note each one I see. They say nothing when they are pulled here and there, and seem to be treated as if they were being dragged to jail. This always bothers me, for I must make the pet's loyalty often difficult.If I owned a place in the country
the first thing I should do would be to get me a dog, or perhaps
two of them, just to let them romp to their hearts' desire. A dog's life in a city is not a bed
of roses, but it has no choice. It dreams of food all day long. Regardless of its captivity, every dog
has a loyal heart and has but one language — that of silent love for the one who gives it care and a home, for which I am sure all dogs are grateful.I would like to talk with every dog I pass on the street if it could only understand. The great of this earth have been, and are,
dog lovers. Carlyle, Galsworthy,
the Roosevelts, MacKinlay Kantor, W. Somerset Maugham, and a vast multitude of others have given to a dog their love and devotion,
making each dog lover more human because of this ownership of animal love.I know of no more honest love
than that from the two eyes of a dog, or of those four feet that trots behind each master, whether man or woman. Many give their dogs greater love and consideration than they give their friends.
A dog's wagging tail tells volumes
with which no other language can well compete.Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Getting Old — Happily."Presented, 1958, by The George Matthew Adams Service.

THE MAN WHO FORGOT
HIMSELF

By GLENN D. KITTLER

The little girl had a temperature of 106. At her bedside stood the doctor, gently bathing her malaria-ridden body. All around

Glenn D. Kittler

him the night
was filled with hospital
sounds: The soft cries of children make
in their sleep,
the low groan
of a man kept
awake by pain,
the tight-lipped
gasps of a woman awaiting the miracle
of birth.They were familiar sounds to the doctor; he heard them every night as he made his last rounds. They were with him a few minutes later as he walked through the black jungle
night down the hill to his house.He was very tired, but he did not mind. He was a happy man.
There in the pits of the Haitian
jungle he had found the purpose
for himself.A dozen years ago, William Larimer Mellon Jr. was happy in quite a different way. He had everything he wanted: a beautiful wife, four splendid children,
a prosperous Arizona ranch, all the money he needed, and a successful background in the U. S.
diplomatic corps and various enterprises of the famous and wealthy Mellon family.

Changed Everything

At 37 he had retired, the rest of his life, he thought, would be spent at what was almost a hobby
of breeding cattle.Then one night he read a magazine article that changed everything. It was about Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the medical missionary who years before, when he was 30, had put aside successful careers in music, writing and teaching to become a doctor and work in Africa.Mellon recalls:
"Until that night, I didn't know much about Schweitzer. I was deeply impressed by what he had done, but I was even more moved by the reason he did it —
'reverence for life.'"This attitude — Schweitzer has explained — maintains that every living thing has the right to a painless and happy existence, and it is the duty of every man to do what he can to provide it for all others. Larry Mellon felt that, at least in these terms, he hadn't done much with his life.Wrote Schweitzer
An idea began to grow in him.
He read all he could about and by Schweitzer and eventually wrote to him in Africa."I am 37 years old; I have a family and all the responsibilities that go with it. But I want to do what you have done. What do you advise?"Schweitzer replied: "Many men have asked me the question you have sent, but I have always been reluctant to advise them.
The decision is difficult, and there are many hardships. It is the plight of the dogooders in the world that others should throw rocks in their path. But you seem courageous. I urge you to pursue your goal."Mellon made his decision. There was only one person to be told about it: his wife, Larry Mellon recalls."I found Gwen on a ladder, doing housework. I went to her and blurted out: 'I think I'll go to medical school, then settle down somewhere that can use a good country doctor.' She didn't seem too surprised. At least she didn't fall off the ladder."

Friends Surprised

But other people were surprised
— especially since in his youth
he was considered somewhat of a playboy. His friends accused him of suffering a belated attack of adolescent idealism. Medical schools said he was too old; that he would never survive the stiff course of studies. But Tulane University reluctantly accepted
him in 1947.To be sure, the studies were difficult, but by the hardest work
he was able to keep up his grades.
On Schweitzer's suggestion, he and Gwen spent a summer at Lambarene. He also visited with Schweitzer in Europe, learning
more from the man whose principles had become his own.Mellon's plan was this: when he finished school he would build a hospital wherever he felt it was most needed; he would name it after Albert Schweitzer, and he would spend the rest of his life
there. During vacations, he traveled through the world seeking the proper site for the hospital.

Went To Haiti

For his graduate paper, Mellon had chosen the subject of tropical ulcers, and these were prevalent in Haiti. Accompanied by his family he spent weeks doing research in the island country, and his travels eventually took him
into the Artibonite Valley.One look was all he needed:
thousands of people lived in the poorest conditions. Tuberculosis, malaria, malnutrition and tetanus were rampant. Excepting a small obstetrical unit, there were no
medical facilities within miles.
Surely this was the place for the hospital.In mid-1956, the hospital was there. It had cost almost $2,000,and Larry Mellon paid for this himself. Annual maintenance costs were estimated at $150,000
but have proved to be almost twice that. About a third of it comes from contributors who have learned about the hospital; less than another third is provided by patients' fees (20 cents a visit),
and Larry Mellon makes up the difference.Much more important than giving his money, however, is the fact that Larry Mellon has givenWEDNESDAY — Paul Wooton, a Washington correspondent, introduces you to Dr. Edward L. R.
Elson, President Eisenhower's
pastor, and tells what it means to a church to have a President in the congregation.(From the magazine Guideposts and ciation, Inc., Carmel, N. Y.)

OF JOBLESS
IS PROPOSED

By NORMAN WALKER

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—
AFL-CIO leaders are considering a mass march of hundreds of thousands of jobless Americans on Washington to dramatize the unemployment problem.The labor union chiefs holding their winter meeting in this sun-drenched Caribbean resort were reported planning a series of blockbuster demonstrations criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies and urging more government spending to reach full production and full employment.

Plan Mass Influx

Chairman Walter Reuther has been drafting a series of statements in closed sessions of the AFL-CIO Economic Committee.
An initial statement, due for Executive Council approval Wednesday, reportedly denounces Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget as inadequate for the nation's development to meet the Soviet Union's production threat.Reuther is reported considering labor sponsorship of a mass influx, by train, auto and afoot, of thousands of idle workers on the capital to appeal to the President and Congress for economic legislative action.

Five Million Jobless

Reuther first broached the idea of a jobless march before an AFL-CIO legislative conference in Lansing, Mich., Feb. 6. He said it would "shatter the complacency
of the nation's leaders."Reuther told newsmen here the nation's January jobless total of 4,700,000 would mount to around five million this month. He said that at least 1 1/2 million additional jobless were too discouraged to seek work and don't show on the unemployed rolls. Millions of others are underemployed, working part time, he added."We have to use a little shock treatment to wake up our government to this dire situation," said
Reuther, who heads the United Auto Workers as well as the industrial union division of the AFL-CIO.Word reached here from Washington that negotiations had collapsed between court-named members and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to speed anti-corruption reforms in his in-ion.

MAY HELP TO SAVE BUDGET

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democratic leaders apparently are planning to help President Eisenhower try to balance
the budget despite their contention
he is playing 1960 politics in this field.Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon
B. Johnson of Texas has urged colleagues on the Senate Appropriations Committee to prune deeply into the regular money bills.Johnson also has asked for early hearings on Eisenhower's request for a $1,375,000,000 contribution to the International Monetary Fund
and an increase of $3,175,000,000
in obligatory authority for capital in the world bank. He made it clear he has no intention of delaying action on this measure
until after June 30.

Precarious Balance

Any such delay would unbalance the 77-billion-dollar budget Eisenhower has outlined for the year beginning July 1. It would add the $1,375,000,000 monetary fund outlay to expenditures therein instead of in the current fiscal year, for which it is budgeted as part of a deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars. The World Bank fund is not to be spent and would not affect the budget balance.Johnson is reported to have agreed with his party's House
leaders that while the Democrats
may increase defense, housing,
airport and some other outlays,
they will try to cut back Eisenhower's requests in other fields.Their economy drive apparently was aimed at making it impossible for Eisenhower and the Republicans to blame the Democrats if the budget is not balanced.Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) told the Senate Monday Eisenhower is asking for speedy action on the monetary fund proposal and other requests in an effort to "dump all of these things
into this year's deficit."

"Elbowed Me Out"

Johnson said he supposed that if the Democrats support these requests "We will have to defend ourselves from the spokesmen of the administration for doing what
the President requests."Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.), the Senate GOP leader, said the previous Democratic - controlled Congress had acted to drain the Treasury of $3,788,000,000 more than Eisenhower had anticipated,
largely through what he called back door spending authorizations
not carried in regular money bills.
Johnson replied that none of the money could have been spent if the President hadn't approved. He added that Dirksen often was "in there elbowing me out to get in that back door."

REALISM ON RECRUITING

By DAVE DILES

Associated Press Sports Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)— Biggie Munn suggests "let's be realistic about recruiting.""The biggest and best companies in the world seek out the men best equipped for their top jobs," said the Michigan State University athletic director today.
"So why shouldn't the universities go after the best athletic talent?"Munn, now in his sixth year as the Spartan's athletic director after coaching the school's football team to national prominence, is a long-time member of the Big Ten's Committee on Recruiting Practices.

"Unrealistic" Now

He favors a liberalization of recruiting practices to make it easier for coach to contact prospective athletes.The present Big Ten athletic scholarship setup, based on need,
is "workable but unrealistic,"
said Munn."It penalizes the thrifty parent," he added. "If a father works hard and saves some money for his son's education, the rules
state the boy can receive only so much money because he has only so much need. But the father who doesn't care, who doesn't bother to save anything — his son can get a full ride because he needs
more."

Key To Success

Munn said recruiting on a well-planned, aggressive basis is the key to success in athletics. "We built great teams at Michigan State because we had a real plan
for recruiting. It was not an accident."The 50-year-old athletic director whose Michigan State football teams compiled a 54-9-2 record in seven seasons, stoutly defends alumni loyalists who do much of the recruiting."They got a lot of undeserved abuse," said Munn. "Sure, sometimes they may get out of line because of over-enthusiasm. But we'd be in terrible shape without them."Philly Fare Rise
Needs PUC OkayPHILADELPHIA (AP)—Only
Public Utility Commission approval is needed for an increase in transit token fares in Philadelphia.The city and Philadelphia Transportation Co. Monday reached agreement on a new fare schedule
calling for 10 tokens for $1.90 and a cash fare of 20 cents.The school fare would remain
at seven and one-half cents.
The proposed hike would amount to one cent on token fares, none on cash fares. The PTC had asked for a boost of cash fares to 25 cents.

SALE PRICES HIGH

An estimated 3,000 persons attended the J. Bush Horner Sr., estate sale of personal property
in Cumberland Twp. Saturday.
Prices generally were high. A five-year-old tractor brought $1,250; a 1949 Chevrolet, $245;
a grandfather's clock, $325; an old
pistol, $50; bayonets, $12.50 each;
cane seated chairs, $12.50 each
and other antiques also brought good prices. Dr. Edwin Benner was the auctioneer. Carl Haines was the clerk.

Crucial Schoolboy Loop Games This Evening; All Local Teams Will Be Idle

Gettysburg's four scholastic basketball teams will be idle tonight with local interest swinging to Biglerville where the Cannons entertain Bermudian Springs in an important Adams-Franklin County League game.

A victory by Biglerville would virtually clinch the Adams Division title. Bermudian is one and one-half games back of the league leaders but with two more games remaining. Biglerville has three more games left, one being a postponed affair with Big Spring. Biglerville has an overall 13-5 record while Bermudian Springs is 10-7.

In other county division games tonight New Oxford (9-9) plays at Fairfield, while Littlestown (4-13) is at Big Spring.

Franklin Division games include Scotland at James Buchanan, Greencastle at Quincy, and Fanett-Metal at St. Thomas.

Squires In Test
Delone Catholic also faces its most important contest of the season tonight when it tangles with Bishop McDevitt at Harrisburg.

The Squires, winners of five straight and now 9-11 for the campaign, are tied with McDevitt for first place in the second half race of the Central Pennsylvania Catholic League, both teams having 2-0 marks. McDevitt won the first half championship.

Crucial games in the second half race of the South Penn League are listed tonight with the big game being scheduled at Hanover where the Nighthawks meet undefeated Carlisle. The invading Herd holds a second half record of 5-0 while Hanover and Chambersburg are tied for second place with 5-1 records. Chambersburg plays at Middletown.

Rounding out the South Penn card will be the following games: Hershey at Shippensburg, and Mechanicsburg at Waynesboro.

Bullets, Mount Play
On the collegiate front the Gettysburg College Bullets will go after their fifth straight victory at Dickinson and Mt. St. Mary's, gunning for a spot in the Mason-Dixon Conference playoffs, meets Catholic University at Emmitsburg.

ORIOLES SIGN TRIANDOS
BALTIMORE — Gus Triandos, slugging Oriole catcher, became the 25th Oriole (including Whitey Lockman) to affix his signature to a 1959 contract, announced General Manager Lee MacPhail late Monday, after two conferences with the big back-stop in his stadium office.

Neither would commend on the salary terms agreed upon, but it was obvious that the big fellow was in an excellent bargaining position based on last year's performance, and even more obvious from the size of his grin that he had not been asked to take a "cut."

TWO PLAYERS SIGN DESPITE TRADE RUMOR

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jerry Lumpe of the New York Yankees and Roger Maris of the Kansas City Athletics, both reported on the trading block, have signed their 1959 baseball contracts. The announcements were made by the respective teams Monday.

Lumpe, a third baseman who batted .254 last year, has been mentioned as part of a package that might go to Washington in exchange for either Pedro Ramos or Camillo Pascual, both pitchers. The transaction, according to reports, also may involve Johnny Kucks, a pitcher, and first baseman Marv Throneberry of New York.

Others Signed
Maris has been rumored on his way to the Yanks or to Detroit. The young outfielder had 19 home runs and batted .248 in 1958.

Another American League club, the Chicago White Sox, reported three signings. Those coming to terms were pitchers Don Rudolph and Gerry Staley and infielder Billy Goodman.

Other signers included pitcher Mark Freeman of the Yankees, first baseman Jim Koranda and Norm Larker, pitcher Dan McDevitt, catcher Joe Pignatano and outfielder Don Demeter of Los Angeles and pitcher Jim Brosnan of St. Louis.

FISTICUFFS IN CAGE CONTEST

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Mississippi State survived a fist fight Monday night to celebrate with another basketball victory its climb to fifth place in the Associated Press poll.

The Maroons whipped Georgia 76-56 but they knew they had been in a fight, in more ways than one. Six minutes into the second half, fisticuffs broke out on the court and it took police and officials five minutes to restore order.

Leading 48-40, State was moving down court when Georgia's Sonny Poss blocked Bailey Howell, State's All-American candidate. Howell headed for the free throw line but Poss and State's Jay Ketton lingered at midcourt. Suddenly Poss popped Keeton and the brawl was on. Players leaped into action and spectators quickly crowded around.

The officials didn't throw any players out of the game but Poss was yanked and never returned.

HOUSEWIFE TV CRITICS SEND NEW COMMENT

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of weeks ago this department ran a letter from Mrs. Clyde Evans of Biloxi, Miss., and our reply to her complaint that thought-provoking programs should be called "the pick of the week."

Possibly it was an error to say that she doubtless represented the views of millions. For the mail has been heavy since then—and, interestingly, all in disagreement with Mrs. Evans's opinions.

Mrs. Irving Silver of High Point, N.C., tells Mrs. Evans:

Tired Of Stereotype
"In heaven's name, don't deny those of us whose sets don't go on for six weeks—except for news or 'Captain Kangaroo'—the privilege of the excellent Sunday programs such as '20th Century,' 'Camera Three,' 'Omnibus,' and the like."

Mrs. Mary B. Vogel of Gainesville, Fla., identifies herself as a housewife with three small children who does her own work. In an excellent letter that we regretfully cut only for reasons of space she says:

"Frankly, I am tired of the stereotype of the housewife as a rather non-toe-bright individual who prefers ordinary, unimaginative soap operas and repetitious comedy series to any type of stimulating TV viewing."

Do Have Brains

"I think television fails completely in its opportunity to reach this potential viewing segment of which I am a part. I admit I would not have time to sit all day watching serious panel shows or lectures or drama programs. But I do believe I would have the time to watch one or more programs of a stimulating nature during the week."

"Contrary to the opinions of advertising executives and network vice presidents, housewives do have brains. And we'd like to use them."

"I enjoy such programs as

3 Cagers Fight For Scoring Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Bailey Howell of Mississippi State is closing in on Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Leo Roy of Marshall in the individual scoring race among major college basketball players.

Howell scored 33 points against Georgia Monday night to boost his season's average to 28.8. Robertson, who has 32.5, and Byrd, 29.6, were idle.

Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech moved up one notch to fourth place with a 37-point point out against George Washington. This increased his average to 28.6.

Robertson's point total is 585. Byrd's is 563, Howell 633 and Ayersman 515.

TIM MARA, 71, GIANTS OWNER, DIES MONDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Tim Mara, who brought the National Football League's New York Giants into headlines, is dead from a heart attack.

The former president of the club died at his home Monday night. He was 71.

Mara retired as the club's president 10 years ago. It has since been handled by his sons, John and Wellington. John is the Giants president and Wellington is secretary.

Last season, the club won the Eastern Division title but lost in the championship game to the Baltimore Colts.

Mara invested $2,500, and with former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney's manager, Billy Gibson, activated the club in 1925. He later bought out Gibson.

The genial Irishman had a knack of getting football's most heralded stars on his payroll, among them Ken Strong, Mel Hein, Bennie Friedman and Duffy Leamans.

The Giants won four world championships 1927, 1934, 1938 and 1956 — and eight conference titles.

In 1953 Mara turned down a million-dollar offer for the franchise.

EXPECT VEECK TO ACT TODAY

CHICAGO (AP)—Colorful Bill Veeck, former successful owner of the Cleveland Indians, is expected today to exercise his option to buy into the Chicago White Sox.

Veeck has called an afternoon press conference, presumably to pick up the option which will enable him and his syndicate to buy 54 per cent of the club's stock from Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney.

Veeck's option runs out Wednesday. Once he takes up the option, the deal must be closed in not less than 15 days and not more than 45 days.

If and when the deal is closed, Veeck will pay Mrs. Rigney 1½ million dollars in cash. Another $500,000 will be placed in escrow and will be paid Mrs. Rigney under three separate stipulations.

The other 46 per cent of stock in the club is held by Mrs. Rigney's brother, Charles Comiskey. Comiskey has flatly stated he will not sell out.

Welder, Unknown Lead In Bowling

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 29-year-old Detroit welder gained the lead in the all-evening division and a virtually unknown Chicago bowler moved to the top in the singles of the American Bowling Congress Tournament Monday.

For a while, Pat Stone, the Detroit welder, led both divisions. Then, Fred Kolec of Chicago rolled 197-216-268-681 and replaced Stone as the singles leader in the 56th annual tournament.

Stone gained the singles lead on the third day of the 72-day tournament with a 203-232-206-664 series. That score gave him 1,870 for the nine-game course and put him at the top of the all-events division.

NEW ICBM IS ROLLING ALONG ON SCHEDULE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Air Force says its program for the Minuteman, an intercontinental ballistic missile, is rolling along.

Development schedules are being met, competition for the engine contracts will be concluded before next Jan. 1, and the flight test program will get under way next year, the service says.

The Minuteman is a solid propellant ICBM, intended for launching from underground silos or hiding places.

Once in place, the Minuteman will be left unmanned, unattended. It will be fired from underground control centers housing two or three men, connected with other subterranean control centers.

To Reduce Manpower

The Air Force expects to reduce the manpower needed for ballistic missiles from approximately 100 per Atlas or Titan to 7 for each Minuteman.

The new missile will be installed in hidden locations throughout the country. To deceive the enemy, the Air Force plans to build more Minuteman holes than missiles. Occasionally, too, a missile may prove defective and worthless. In such cases, the faulty Minuteman may be kept in its hole, again for the purpose of deceiving the enemy.

The Minuteman is a three-stage missile, slimmer than as well as smaller than the Atlas. Its rocket engines will provide 2½ times as much power as anything yet built, propulsion experts said.

PARIS (AP)—Political rivalry was blamed for fighting in the French Middle Congo Monday night in which seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

When it comes to doing something about driver safety on our highways, women take a back seat to no one.

One of the biggest movements now underway to help reduce accidents is being carried on by some 140,000 working women in 3,300 U. S. communities.

These determined gals, all members of local chapters of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, are on the lookout for useless traffic signs and markers.

The kinds of signs this volunteer army is out to eliminate are those that do not conform to state law and federal recommendations as to size, shape, color, and night visibility requirements. The gals stand ready to cooperate with traffic authorities in any way they can to get the many dangerous signs on our roads replaced with good ones.

Blame Traffic Signs
According to Mrs. Lois C. Northcott, director of this ambitious women's safety project, a prime reason for many traffic accidents is that "the motorist is not getting an even break when it comes to traffic signs."

The 140,000 women in on this effort are armed with checklists of questions like these: "Are signs and signals located where needed most?" "Are local traffic authorities following their own sign manuals as to proper shape, background color and location?" "Do signs employ reflective-type materials so safety colors and message are unmistakably visible to the driver in his headlights at night?"

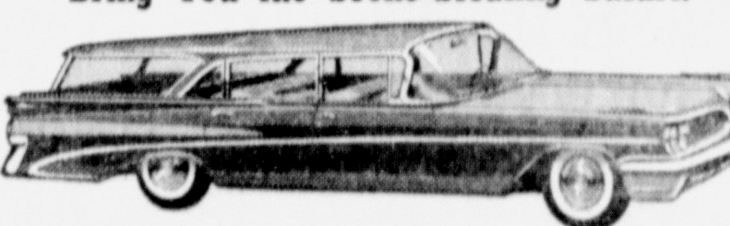

The answers to these and many other questions should indicate some areas where strong effort is necessary, particularly in the realm of nighttime safety. Proper signs are three times as important at night, when three times as many drivers are killed per mile traveled as during the day, according to the National Safety Council.

A dark, unfamiliar road and a stop sign that works only in daylight is the kind of accident combination that safety-minded women are working to correct.

The national spotlight is focusing now on the Business and Professional Women's sign survey, but tomorrow it may shift to the equally vigorous driver safety activities carried on by countless other women as members of civic organizations, local safety councils, PTA groups and neighborhood groups.

Cold Weather Car Tricks

By Martha Johnson
Safety Consultant

One of these cold, frosty mornings it may happen to you! You're already late for work or an important appointment—and your car won't start. Or the windows are crusted with a thick coat of ice. Perhaps the lock's frozen and you can't get in!

Test drivers, who put cars through all sorts of winter-driving paces, offer these time and temper saving tricks when such situations occur.

When starting your cold engine, turn off heater, lights, radio and etc. Depress the accelerator to the floor then return it to the half-way position and hold it steadily until the motor catches. Don't pump the accelerator or race the motor. (Prevention: Have battery checked weekly during a cold spell—more frequently in sub-zero weather. To prevent gas line from freezing, add a good quality fuel line anti-freeze to each tank of gas.)

Note: Most good quality winter fuels contain such a compound.

The radiator frozen? Thaw your car in a heated garage or run engine with the front of the radiator covered till thawed. If done in a garage make sure the doors are open. Caution: Never pour hot water into radiator unless engine is running. (Prevention: Plenty of anti-freeze is your best protection.)

When windows are frosted, use a soft plastic or wooden scraper. (Prevention: Slip large cards under the windshield wipers if the car is parked outdoors.)

If the lock is frozen, heat the key with a match or cigarette lighter. (Prevention: Lubricate lock with powdered graphite and make sure lock covers are completely closed.)

$33 TICKET

DETROIT (AP)—A $1 overtime parking ticket has cost retired antique dealer Fenton R. Mathews $33.

The suburban Birmingham man got the ticket last October. He refused to pay and asked for a jury trial. The jury found him guilty. The fine, delay and court costs came to $33.

The flood belt along the Mississippi River in Louisiana is about 50 miles wide and 400 miles long. It is protected by many miles of levees.

Mrs. Northcott may have scored a point when she answered a reporter's question about why women today are shouldering more and more responsibility for traffic safety programs.

"Women have a knack of getting things done where men sometimes fail," she claimed.

REACTION TO NEW TAX PLAN IS CAUTIOUS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Bipartisan recommendations for a 425-million-dollar tax package featuring a plan to increase the 3 per cent sales tax to 3½ per cent drew a cautious, wait-and-see reaction today.

Even Gov. Lawrence withheld all-out support for the program proposed by his own 12-member Tax Study Committee to close the gap in the Commonwealth's 1959-61 budget that is expected to approach 2½ billion dollars.

The most he would say was that the 15-point proposal would be "followed closely" when he presents his budget to the Legislature March 2.

Elliott's Opinion

The only outspoken criticism came from Sen. Douglas H. Elliott (R-Franklin). He said the sales tax rate boost proposal "seems high to me."

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, expressed amazement at the size of the estimated deficit—170 million dollars—listed in the committee's report.

"This is an indication we did not have good government for the last four years," he added.

Wait And See

But Johnson and other top GOP leaders took the position that they would wait and see exactly what part of the report the governor would accept in making his own budget recommendations.

On the Democratic side, there was praise for the report in general. Specifically, Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said its adoption would keep Pennsylvania's industry in a good competitive position, taxwise, with other states.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, noted the comprehensiveness of the report, adding:

See 264 Millions

"I hope the Legislature will see its way clear to enact a tax program based largely, if not entirely, on this report by April 1."

The report recommended that 264 million dollars be raised by sales tax revisions.

They included extending that levy to beer and liquor purchased at taverns and clubs and from beer distributors or state liquor stores; electric light and telephone bills; trade-in values on automobiles and appliances; restaurant meals starting at 10 cents instead of 50 cents; utility maintenance equipment and tools, and repair and service charges such as car washes and oil changes.

Tax For Bonus

The report also called for boosting the five-cents-a-pack cigarette tax to help finance the Korean War Bonus, reviving the cent-a-bottle soft drinks tax, imposing a 25 per cent levy on cigars, pipe and chewing tobacco, reinstating a six-mill state personal property tax and doubling the four-mill tax on bank shares.

Natural gas companies would be called on to pay the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities. Natural gas storage would be taxed at the monthly rate of one-twelfth of one percent.

Other legislative developments: School fire hazards—Legislation introduced in the House would allow school districts to postpone correction of fire hazard conditions if they provide daily fire patrols while the buildings are in use.

Boehm investigation—Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) charged Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, with "mismanagement" in operating his department. He asked for a Senate investigation.

Year-Round Study

The Senate sent the probe demand to its Rules Committee after Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) praised Boehm's record.

Taxes—The House Rules Committee approved a measure calling for creation of a joint House-Senate budget committee with powers to keep an eye on state spending and the tax picture even while the Legislature is not in session.

Gas Tax Not Mentioned

Another highlight of the report was a recommendation that pari-mutuel betting on horse racing be legalized in Pennsylvania, although acknowledging no revenue from this source would start flowing for at least two years.

The report asked for continuance of existing levies on corporate net income, cigarettes, real estate transfers and gross receipts of public utilities. All or part of these taxes expire during 1959. If allowed to do so, the committee said, the state would lose 115 million dollars in revenue.

No Mention Was Made of an Increase in the Five-Cents-a-Gallon Gasoline Tax Since Revenues from That Impost Are earmarked Exclusively for Roads.

Highways Secretary Park H. Martin already has asked for a boost of one or two cents a gallon to enable the state to qualify for more federal road aid.

Smith Looks For Funds For Audit

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith looked to the Legislature today for an appropriation to help his office audit books of every school district in Pennsylvania.

Smith told the television panel Capitol Correspondents (WTAP) Monday night that he would seek between $750,000 and a million dollars to finance the first such audit ever conducted by the state. He said the auditors may be protected by Civil Service.

The Justice Department recently ruled Smith's department had the right to make the audits. The audits had been limited to those by local school officials.

BREAKDOWN GIVE ON NEW TAX REVENUE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Here's a breakdown with the estimated two-year revenue of the tax recommendations made by Gov. Lawrence's Tax Advisory Committee:

Increase the 3 per cent sales tax to 3½ per cent (76 million dollars).

Extend the sales tax to liquor and beer sold across the bar in taverns and clubs and by state liquor stores and retail beer distributors (59 millions).

Extend the sales tax to the trade-in value of automobiles and appliances (42 millions).

Other Extensions

Extend the sales tax on electric light bills, except power used in production or in rendering a public utility service (32 millions).

Extend the sales tax to telephone and telegraph service within the Commonwealth (23 millions).

Reduce the exemption on the sales of restaurant meals from the first 50 cents of a check to the first 10 cents (14 millions).

Extend the sales tax to equipment and tools used in the maintenance of property of public utility companies, but continuing to exempt production machinery (7 millions).

Reinstate Soft Drink Tax

Extend the sales tax to repair services in which the materials used are now taxable while the service itself is not, together with charges for washing and lubricating of cars and trucks (11 millions).

Reinstate the cent-a-bottle soft drinks tax first enacted in 1947 and repealed in 1961 (37 millions).

Impose a 25 per cent excise tax on cigars, pipe and chewing tobacco and snuff (15 millions).

Require gas utilities to pay the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities (10 millions).

Monthly Tax

Levy a monthly tax of one-twelfth of one per cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas in underground storage (7 millions).

Impose a state tax of six mills while the Legislature is not in session.

A year-round study on taxes also was suggested by Lawrence's tax advisory group.

Gas Tax Not Mentioned

Another highlight of the report was a recommendation that pari-mutuel betting on horse racing be legalized in Pennsylvania, although acknowledging no revenue from this source would start flowing for at least two years.

The report asked for continuance of existing levies on corporate net income, cigarettes, real estate transfers and gross receipts of public utilities. All or part of these taxes expire during 1959. If allowed to do so, the committee said, the state would lose 115 million dollars in revenue.

No Mention Was Made of an Increase in the Five-Cents-a-Gallon Gasoline Tax Since Revenues from That Impost Are earmarked Exclusively for Roads.

Highways Secretary Park H. Martin already has asked for a boost of one or two cents a gallon to enable the state to qualify for more federal road aid.

REAPPOINTS PA. ATHLETIC COMMISSION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence has reappointed the three-member State Athletic Commission and asked for their confirmation by the Senate.

They are James H. Crowley, Dunmore, chairman; Alfred M. Klein, Elkins Park, Montgomery County, and Paul G. Sullivan, Pittsburgh.

At the same time Lawrence made these appointments and asked for Senate approval:

Milk Control Commission—Simon J. Uhl, Somerset.

State Civil Defense Council—Maurice K. Goddard, Forests and Waters secretary; Park H. Martin, Highways secretary; Dr. Charles L. Wilbur Jr., Health secretary, and Ruth Grigg Horting, on intangible personal property, leaving counties free to continue their four-mill rate, but giving Philadelphia and Pittsburgh taxpayers credit against the state levy for what they pay locally in excess of four mills (55 millions).

Increase the four-mill tax on bank shares to eight mills (12 millions).

Increase the five-cents-a-pack cigarette tax to six cents with the increase earmarked for the Korean War bonus (25 millions).

Cut Out Reductions

The committee also recommended that these existing levies, due for automatic reduction this year, be retained (with revenue losses in parentheses if cuts are allowed to go into effect):

Six per cent corporate net income tax, due to drop to 5 per cent Dec. 31 (35 millions).

One per cent real estate transfer tax, due to expire May 31 (41 millions).

Five-cents-a-pack cigarette tax, due to fall to four cents May 31 (25 millions).

Reduction of the gross receipts tax on public utilities from 14 to 8 mills, effective last Jan. 1, but subject to retroactive action (14 millions).

Attention, Please!

We are pleased to published the following address delivered by the Rev. John F. Mangrum, of Mount Dora, Florida, at our recent Licensed Beverage Association Convention. It will give you a better light on the problems of our group.

Last summer I was invited to Miami to say the opening prayer at the convention of the State Liquor Retail Dealers' Association, and then at the last minute found that a speech was expected of me—in fact, it turned out to be the opening speech of their sessions. Observing their sober and thoughtful faces—in fact it was, ironically, the most sober group, in every way, that I had ever seen at a convention—I dropped a few remarks that seemed obvious.

What they amounted to can be summarized in one phrase: "Be Good!" This is always safe advice for any preacher to give! Interspersed with platitudes and the three jokes I knew were words urging the beverage dealers of Florida not to be embarrassed by their business, not to hide behind the inferiority complex most of them felt at the depredations of the grim and puritanical elements of the small towns, but to join churches and to work with community organizations, to be good citizens, and to be good Christians.

Now, this all seemed safe and cliché-ridden—and yet it produced some excitement. The poor downtrodden dealers seemed so glad not to be beaten with the nearest baseball bat, that the few trite phrases I uttered were as startling, apparently, as an announcement that I had planned to turn into a Mohammedan—a move I would never contemplate, because I already possess the most beautiful wife in the world!

We have indeed reached a sad state of affairs when churches and citizens alike have allowed themselves to be dominated with puritanism so badly that we treat you gentlemen—and you allow yourselves to be treated—as second class human beings.

So at the risk of repeating again what was said at Miami Beach in the most wonderful state in the United States—and the best place to hold a convention!—may we examine for a few minutes this morning the truth about you, your business, life, and the world, in the light of Christian doctrine through twenty centuries. There are some truths you should hear at least once—from those who have heretofore hit you!

What is the truth about the earth, and its fruits? God created it—says the Book of Genesis—and He looked and saw that it was good. That means the earth, the dirt from which we grow our crops, the crops themselves, our houses, our cars, our TV sets,—all that God has given us on the earth. It is what men make of all this gift that determines its rightness or wrongness. "Wine" said the Psalmist, "makes glad the heart of man." Even St. Paul urged a little wine for the sake of the stomach. And God, Himself, when He walked here on earth as Jesus Christ, turned water into wine—wine so good that it was better than anything the host at the wedding feast had provided to that point in the festivities.

Men can see too much of television—it can become a narcotic. Men can use automobiles to commit murder—and they can sin with the aid of the machine. Men can get greedy with the earth and spoil it for hundreds of years with their selfish agricultural methods which take no heed of proper principles of conservation.

Many men—most men—will drink alcohol in one form or another. There are some who should never do it—you know this better than anyone else, because the abusers of your product are ammunition in the hands of your opponents. When men drink too much, they are fools, and are sinful in abusing the gift of God's Creation. But most men who drink are not evil about it. They do not feel sinful, and they will continue to drink from any source that will provide it.

This is the important point about you and your business. In the Prohibition period of our history—the period which produced the problem drinkers of today—we found out that the whole nation would continue to drink and would violate the Constitution if necessary to do it—and gangsters provided the desired product. We know that either gangsters will do it—or good people will provide these services. That is the crux of our choice and of your obligation and your necessity.

That is why it is important for you to find someplace for yourselves to learn what God would have you be and do. Quit being ashamed and embarrassed by your business. Don't hide behind the scorn of the professional "drys"—you have let them shrink you into a gigantic inferiority complex again and again. We need leaders in our churches. We need leaders in our communities. If one denomination does not have need of you—except when it wants back-door contributions, extracted through implied blackmail about community fuses and local option elections—you will find that the traditional Christian groups know these truths, and want you and need you.

It is tragic that many of the churches have not been particularly Christian in relation to you—in fact, in relation to anyone they feel deserves the name of "Sinner."

Average, middle-class American religious life has been fantastically concerned with maintaining respectability, and I know you have been shunned by those who claim to speak in the name of the God of Love. Unethical election practices, political pressure that has smacked of the cheapest ward-heist tactics, hypocritical denunciations by self-appointed religious leaders of Demon Rum while the same leaders know that their followers all drink around the corner—none of these things can ever bear the name of Christian. If, sadly, the saloon keepers of the past left something to be desired in their practices then, even more

HOPE TO STOP FLOODING OF FARM LANDS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The farming area near Oaktown, Ind., became the main center of activity along the flooded Wabash River Monday as the danger in up-stream communities appeared easing.

National Guardsmen were sent by Gov. Harold W. Handley into the Oaktown area, about 40 miles south of Terre Haute, to strengthen an old levee. A break in the levee would flood thousands of acres of farm land.

Dry weather prevailed in the flood zones and also in wide areas throughout the country east of the Rockies. The country's wettest region was in the Pacific Coast.

Officials in the flood sections of Indiana, which forced some 1,700 families from their homes last week, said barring heavy rains, the worst of the overflows appeared ended.

Sandbags Hold

However, Weather Bureau officials said it would be two weeks before the Wabash falls below flood stage at West Terre Haute. A temporary dike of sandbags held Sunday against another small rise in the swollen river. A huge ice jam remained near Delphi although thawing temperatures over the weekend dislodged some big chunks.

Cooler weather moved into two separate sections east of the Continental Divide. Temperatures dropped in most areas from eastern Texas and the Gulf Coast to the Ohio River and to all of the Atlantic Seaboard except Florida. Biggest drops were in New England, where readings were below zero in northern sections.

A second cold front extended from areas in Montana east of the Divide and into the Dakotas. The

CHARGE SOLDIER IN FATAL CRASH

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A man was killed Sunday in a two-car collision on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The other driver was a young AWOL soldier who fell asleep at the wheel, police say.

The victim was Harry K. Pearson, 33, of Bronxville, N. Y.

The soldier, Larry V. Wise, 18, of Mount Gretna, Lebanon County, wasn't injured. His woman passenger, however, was slightly injured. She is Mrs. Mae Emerich, 21, of Jonestown, Lebanon County, owner of the car.

Police said Wise apparently was dozing and smashed into the rear of Pearson's car near the Reading interchange, although at the last minute Wise tried to swerve. Pearson's car overturned.

The soldier was charged with involuntary manslaughter and held at Lancaster County Jail. Police said he admitted being AWOL from Ft. Dix, N. J.

"Dead" Baby Dies After Revival

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A prematurely born baby died Sunday, 36 hours after an attendant at the city morgue noticed she was alive. The one-pound, 14-ounce infant was delivered Saturday in the lobby of the apartment building where the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Quarto, lived.

A doctor pronounced her dead at birth and she was taken to the morgue. But the infant stirred weakly. She was rushed to a hospital.

Physicians administered oxygen and put the baby in an incubator although it was feared from the outset that she was just too tiny to survive.

Her parents named her Kathleen.

cold air headed into the central plains and eastward to the upper and middle Mississippi Valleys and the upper Great Lakes region.

DESIGN PLANE TO ORBIT MAN AROUND EARTH

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A stub-winged airplane made with new heat resisting materials has been designed with the hope it may carry man on his first orbital flight around the earth.

The plane, called the Super X15, was designed by North American Aviation Inc. to attain near orbital speeds approaching 18,000 miles an hour.

The firm hopes to interest the Defense Department or the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in it.

The Super X15 would be made of materials only recently available in commercial quantities—including molybdenum and columbium.

Ready in Two Years

North American says the craft could be operational within two years as a preliminary step into space—ahead of the Mercury satellite vehicle.

The rocket-powered X15, which is not an orbital vehicle, may go aloft for the first time this week. It is designed to carry a pilot to an altitude of 100 miles and at speeds of more than 3,600 miles an hour.

The space journey of the X15 will last less than half an hour after each launching from a B52.

The Super X15, would be launched vertically like a ballistic missile and would circle the earth two or three times before dipping back into the atmosphere and gliding to a landing.

BOEHM PROBE IS POSSIBLE, SENATE SAYS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Senate Republicans today held out the possibility that an investigation would be made of charges of mismanagement in the State Public Instruction Department under Supt. Charles H. Boehm.

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) told the Senate Monday night that Dr. Boehm has brought about "frustration, chaos and resentment" among his employees and in school districts throughout the Commonwealth.

Wade's demand for a probe went to committee, but Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, said it could not be considered dead.

Couldn't Be Reached

Boehm could not be reached for comment. He is attending an educators' conference in Atlantic City, N. J.

Wade, in a Senate speech, said he has information that Boehm is extravagantly remodeling a conference room in the education building at a cost of $100,000.

He also said Boehm has a $10,000-a-year bureau director whose only duties are as a personal chauffeur to the superintendent. Wade did not identify the individual.

Block Consideration

Democrats blocked immediate consideration of Wade's resolution with Mark Lannon presiding. The meeting opened with a prayer led by Sister Francis, principal, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

At the previous meeting, it was decided to ask senators and delegates of Frederick County to support a bill against obscene literature and movies. Dr. Robert T. Marshall said Charles McC. Mathias, Samuel W. Barrack, C. Clifton Virts and Charles E. Collins replied. No replies had been received from William H. Houck, Gary L. Utterback and Charles H. Smelser to date, he said.

Sister Francis announced that the annual Bishop's Fund Fair will be held at the school early in March. A date will be announced later.

Parents were informed that the children from the Fourth through the Eighth grade would attend Stations of the Cross Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock during Lent in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. A program was presented by the students of the Fifth and Sixth grades.

One Killed, Three Injured In Crash

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—A young man was killed and four people, including three teen-age girls, were injured Sunday in a head-on collision at nearby Drifton.

The victim was William H. Marchetti, 28, of Freeland, passenger in a car driven by Joseph Birosch, 25, also of Freeland. The driver of the other car, Alvin Fatula, 21, of Eckley, escaped injury.

Birosch and Fatula's three young passengers are in fair condition at a hospital. The girls, all 15 and from Hazleton, are Jo Ann Casaldi, Rose Marie Raedler, and Theresa Cassarella.

Police said Fatula's car apparently skidded on icy Route 940 and hit the Birosch car.

Weather Satellites Will Be Launched

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will try in "the immediate near future" to launch the first of four satellites to help the weather man with his forecasts.

The imminence of the first attempt was announced Saturday night by Dr. Francis Reichelderfer, chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, who said the launching would be from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

He said a successful satellite, properly equipped, could televise its surroundings as it orbited.

Thought Missing, Wife Found Dead

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A salesman who had reported his wife missing, found her body in the basement Sunday night while looking for a tool kit.

The coroner's office said Mrs. Nell Miller, 36, of suburban Upper Darby, apparently died of a heart attack while taking a pan from a shelf. Her body was hidden behind furniture stored in the basement.

Her husband, Joseph, told police Saturday he had just returned from a long business trip and couldn't find his wife.

Services Of Great Holstein Bull Now Available To Local Farmer-Breeders

LYON BROOK WALLIE QUEEN, the 6-year-old son of a world record milk and butterfat producing cow and considered one of the nation's top Holstein sires, was bought by the Curtis Improved Stud Service of Cary, Illinois, for use in their artificial breeding program.

The bull was purchased at private sale at one of the highest prices ever paid for a bull in this country, according to Mr. Charles H. Roche, R. 1, New Oxford, Pa.

"His dam," Mr. Roche stated, "Hamaret Queen Prospector, is the only cow in this country's history to have three production records of over 30,000 pounds of milk on twice a day milking. Classified 'excellent' for type and conformation, the dam has a world record of 35,564 pounds of milk and 1,319.1 pounds of butterfat at 6½ years of age on twice-a-day milking. Her other records are 32,388 pounds of milk and 1,221 pounds of butterfat at 8½ years of age, and 31,679 pounds of milk and 1,088 pounds of butterfat at 5½ years of age."

WALLIE QUEEN is a proven sire, his first 10 daughters showing an increase in production over their respective dams.

"Every farmer-breeder around here can get the services of this great bull by artificial insemination," concluded Mr. Roche.

Chinese People, At Beck And Call Of Red Leaders, Working Night And Day

Editor's Note — Cleanliness in the "New China" is astounding. Women have achieved full equality with men. But most striking, says a distinguished Indian observer who traveled widely in Red China, is the eerie spectacle of a huge nation totally absorbed in ceaseless labor. This is the second of five articles.

By Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar
Copyright, 1959,
by The Associated Press

A major aspect of the Chinese scene that cannot escape one is that the whole nation is at work, hard at work, 24 hours a day.

Three shifts in a textile mill or a steel plant are understandable for technical reasons. But in Communist China people do everything on a day and night basis.

I was told about this by my Chinese friends and I did not believe it. But it was brought home to me at 1 a.m. one morning when I was driven to the Peiping hotel, where I was staying, after a dinner with some Chinese officials.

Build Opera House
I saw that both sides of the road were brightly lit by a million electric lights strung in festoons as in a fairland. I was told that these lights meant that people were working. I stopped the car and inquired. It was true.

Some 2,000 workers nearby were building the new Peiping Opera House so that it might be ready for the 10th anniversary of the revolution. The work had been going on night and day on a three-shift basis.

It was the same story in other cities. In one suburb of Peiping alone, where a new cultural center is being created, I counted some 18 massive structures being built around the clock. They will house the various technological research institutes that will carry on research in steel, oil, water conservation, etc. These institutes are usually completed in three or four months.

Work In Massive Numbers
Not only do the Chinese work all the time, but they work in massive numbers. You see 20 people pulling a loaded cart—some pulling with ropes like animals, some pushing from behind.

The reason for this phenomenon is that people are at the beck and call of the regime and need not be paid high wages. So the economy can afford to waste human labor which, in terms of human dignity and monetary value, means nothing. What could be accomplished by two people is done by 20.

Called "Underpopulated"
And yet, paradoxically, everyone from the minister and departmental head down will tell you seriously that China is underpopulated and that there is an acute labor shortage.

A further new aspect of the Chinese scene concerns the position of women. Their traditional role was confined to the bearing and rearing of numerous children.

All this has been radically changed. The Chinese woman has become the equal of man with a vengeance, i.e. a 11y, politically, morally. The double standard of morality has gone. There is no prostitution. The Chinese woman is no longer under the supervision of her father, husband, or son. There is no job that is not open to her.

Women Lose Identity
The Chinese woman has finally come into her own. But on the debit side, she has ceased to be feminine. Not even a hint of cosmetics or the slightest bit of jewelry adorn her.

And the final striking aspect in the New China is cleanliness. Public health and sanitation are attended to with positive vigor. There are literally no flies, no rats, no dogs, and no sparrows in China. (The destruction of sparrows was not to improve public health but to save grain, which the sparrows would otherwise eat.)

Streets Swept
Nobody any longer spits anywhere he likes. Streets and pavements are all swept clean—and they stay clean, morning, noon and night.

How are the streets and sidewalks kept clean? Apart from the regular methods employed by other countries (providing efficient sanitary staff and appealing to the civic conscience of the people) China uses the free and patriotic services of children between 8 and 17. These youngsters, called "Young Pioneers," in red scarves (the Communist equivalent of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides) stand on the pavements morning and evening and shout through cardboard megaphones, "Don't spit, don't spit" in a monotonous chorus.

Warned By Pioneer
In a crowded street in Peiping I saw an old man spit on the pavement. A young Pioneer immediately took him by the arm and asked him, "Comrade, what will Chairman Mao say when he hears that you spat?" The old man was unconscious of the act but offered profuse apologies and disappeared into the crowd promising better behavior worthy of a comrade-citizen in future.

Next: Revolution on the land.

BACKS BETTING IN PA. BUT NOT AS "CURE-ALL"

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence's Tax Advisory Committee today stood behind proposals to legalize pari-mutuel horse race betting in Pennsylvania—but not as a fiscal cure-all.

"The committee does recommend that the Legislature take the necessary steps to legalize pari-mutuel betting in the state," declared the 12-member group in its report to Lawrence Monday. It added:

"It is wishful thinking to believe that race tracks alone will ever solve Pennsylvania's fiscal problems. There is no doubt that the state is losing a substantial source of revenue in its position as a no-racing island surrounded by racing states."

Yield Not Estimated
No estimate was made on the yield but the committee noted that New York State annually receives 70 million dollars in revenue from pari-mutuel betting. They also estimated New Jersey's take at 24 million a year and Ohio at 7 million.

A national track survey disclosed last week that the 24 states with legalized horse race betting netted 222 million dollars during 1958.

"The committee recognizes that any income derived cannot accrue until the 1961-63 biennium," the group said. This is because the current Legislature would have to approve proposed horse race legislation and it would take some time to set up a state agency and build tracks.

Two bills already have been introduced in the House calling for a statewide referendum on whether such betting should be legalized in Pennsylvania.

Gov. Lawrence has indicated he would sign such a proposal into law.

Four Children, Six Others Killed In Headon Accident

ALAMO, Tex. (AP) — Ten persons were killed on a rainslick highway Sunday in a shattering automobile crash that jammed the speedometer on one vehicle at 80 m.p.h.

Four of the dead were children. The head-on collision occurred seven miles south of here in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, practically on the Texas-Mexico border.

Muddy rescue workers pried and tugged for more than an hour to remove nine bodies from one crumpled automobile.

Highway patrolman M. L. Dailey said the speedometer on the car of John T. Clossner, a father of eight, was struck at 80 miles per hour. Clossner was traveling east and the other car west, Dailey said.

Details of the crash, which killed every occupant of the two cars, were meager. Tom Handy, a nearby resident, said he stepped onto his porch about the time they collided.

"It just happened so fast... all I know was that one car was going east and one west," Handy said.

Domingo Cantu, Handy's neighbor, said he "heard something go boom real loud."

Commie Lawyers In Fifth Column

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities says a group of Communist lawyers rank high in a Communist fifth column active in America.

The committee made it clear it sought to focus attention upon a very small minority within the legal profession. It said the activities of the small minority should not be permitted to cast discredit on the overwhelming majority of patriotic attorneys.

The House group issued a report Sunday entitled "Communist Legal Subversion." The report contained information which the committee said had been obtained in the course of investigations into broader aspects of communism.

7 PERISH IN HOME BLAZE

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A mother returned home early Sunday to find rescue workers carrying the bodies of six of her children and her mother from the ruins of a fire.

A seventh child, Queen Esther Pitman, 6, survived when her grandmother told her to run out of the flaming house.

The victims were Mrs. Mary Reeves, 58, and her grandchildren, Wilbur Parker, 10; Terry Parker, 8; Harold Pitman, 7; Laurel Pitman, 3; Jeannie Pitman, 18 months, and Mary Elizabeth Pitman, 6 months.

The mother, Amelia Parker, 32, said she was visiting in South Bend. She returned an hour and a half after the fire had destroyed the four-room concrete block home one mile west of here.

Leslie Parker, father of the older children, was reported somewhere in Michigan.

The little girl who survived said the fire started when burning coals popped out of a heating stove onto a pile of paper.

They were held on an open charge. Sheriff Reinstran said the adults continued a drinking spree after the auto became stuck in the snow.

Ten times as many American soldiers died of disease in the Spanish-American war than perished from battle wounds.

MORE CINDER TRIALS START NEXT MONTH

HARRISBURG (AP) — Seven men charged with conspiring to cheat the Commonwealth out of $64,000 in cinder transactions will go on trial in Dauphin County court in late March.

Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling made the announcement Monday but was unable to fix a positive date for start of the trial—another in a series of cases involving alleged cinder frauds.

Key defendant in the case is Frank J. Petrosky, Greensburg, operator of the Salem Supply Co. Petrosky is charged with 11 counts of cheating by false pretenses and seven counts of conspiracy.

Indicted Year Ago
Others awaiting trial are: Patrick J. McShane, Scottsdale, former Westmoreland County highway superintendent; Glen F. Bowser, former acting superintendent in Armstrong County, and Roland J. Sell, Scottsdale; Earl J. Broker, Irwin; A. I. Davis, Greensburg, and Charles E. Falt, Greensburg R. D. 3, former Westmoreland County assistant maintenance superintendent.

They are accused of conspiring to defraud the state through shot-weight cinder deliveries, deliveries at unauthorized places and improper use of Highways Department trucks.

The Commonwealth alleges the offenses occurred between March 1956 and late 1957.

Indictments were handed down last March.

Honored were Atty. Samuel E. Ewing, Haverford, and Frank C. P. McGinn, Philadelphia banker. Only three others have received the honor since the program was started five years ago. They were John M. Walker, Allegheny County commissioner; and Reps. James G. Fulton and Robert J. Corbett, both of Allegheny County.

GREEN TRIAL TAKES RECESS

By BILL GIBSON
LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The conspiracy trial of Rep. William J. Green Jr. (D-Pa.) and six others accused of cheating the government in the construction of the huge Tobyhanna Army Signal Corps Depot is in recess until next week.

The prosecution completed its case Monday after calling 68 witnesses and presenting 144 exhibits. U. S. District Judge Frederick V. Follmer excused the jury of five women and seven men until Wednesday, Feb. 25.

But he instructed defense attorneys to be present Monday for arguments on motions for directed verdicts of acquittal.

One such motion was filed Monday by State Sen. Hugh D. McMenamin, counsel for Frederick J. Raff, a Hartford, Conn., plumber and heating contractor. McMenamin asked for a directed verdict of acquittal "for the reason that the evidence is insufficient to sustain his (Raff's) conviction."

Counsel for the other defendants indicated they would file similar motions on Monday.

The trial opened Jan. 12.

Two Pistol-Packing Youngsters Nabbed

ATLANTA (AP) — Two pistol-packing youngsters were arrested by police who said the pair stole dynamite and guns so they could build a rocket ship and "play western like on TV."

The boys, aged 13 and 14, were arrested as they walked home from target practice in a field. Police said each had three pistols tucked in his belt. Officers said they found 154 sticks of dynamite, 305 caps, 17 pistols and 20 boxes of ammunition hidden in lofts of the homes where the boys lived.

The arsenal was taken from a lumber company and a hardware concern. Police quoted the boys as saying it was fun to steal when not attending eighth grade classes.

Mystery Missile Makes Its Debut

CAPE CANAVERA, Fla. (AP) — A new mystery missile has made its launching debut.

The Air Force declined to talk about the smoke gushing rocket Monday after it roared skyward at blazing speed and disappeared in the overcast sky in seconds.

Sources said the missile was a two-stage test vehicle developed by McDonnell Aircraft, but its specific mission was not known.
